

7 reasons to do Internet Marketing - earn by writing about your favorite things

Contributed by Genevieve Smith
Monday, 08 September 2008

Here are 7 reasons why you should go ahead and earn money on the Internet just by writing about your favorite things. There are kids doing it (and succeeding), so why don't you? Nothing big or fancy – just write what you like about your favorite games, or movies, or holiday resorts, or sports, or absolutely anything. And there'll be online products that you can promote at the same time and get paid for every sale.

{mosbotwordcount}

The Internet favors no one and levels all playing fields. Average-Joe can line up against corporate giants and win because web surfers do not specifically search for large, corporate websites – it's everybody's game here. Billions of people browse the Net daily and each one is a potential customer.

{bot_wrgoogle}Countless online products pay commissions of 50% or more to anyone who promotes them, and millions of dollars change hands every day. The moneymakers are called affiliates. What's more, affiliates don't even have to worry about keeping stock or making deliveries – the seller does that. They just write about the product and get paid for every sale.

Why this could be you:

- Anyone can easily learn how to build a website. There are free website builders on the Net complete with tutorials. And many web hosts will host your site dirt-cheap.
- There are countless products you can write about. You can write about your favorite Sony Play Station and recommend it to your friends and readers. Then get paid commissions for every sale.
- If you happen to own the product, people will believe you all the more because they can see that you know what you're talking about. You can talk about what it does for you and how good it is.
- You can also promote instantly downloadable digital products. Commissions for these are usually 50% or more.
- You can also write articles about your product and submit them to article directories. Readers from all over the world can download them. Your article then spreads right across the Net and brings you more sales.
- You can even have a "travel" website and talk about the places you've visited. You can then promote downloadable "travel" products and earn hefty commissions.
- Your website stays online indefinitely and you can make a sale every time someone visits it. It can be your own little business and will help you buy more play stations.

So go ahead and do your own thing - and make money at the same time. Just start with one website and write about your favorite products. There are countless affiliates raking in big-time cash on the Internet this very moment. So why not join them?

Author BIO

If you want to give it a go and learn more, visit www.affil-rev.make-money-on-line.biz.

This article may be freely reprinted or distributed in its entirety. The author's name, bio and website link must remain intact and be included with every reproduction.