Shamim's great character combined with her multiple talents bring out the star in her. Her talent and experience is clearly heard in her voice. Her strong vocal skills captivate listeners at the very second she opens her mouth. This is clear on her first single "You're Killin' Me (The Download Song)" from her forthcoming CD, "Through My Eyes."

Shamim has co-written songs with Grammy-Award winner writer, PoohBear, and music by Grammy-Award winning producer, Scott Storch and MoBetta. "Through My Eyes" also includes Shamim's song "Juice" featuring E-40, which has received phenomenal acclaim in both the Miami and Los Angeles club scenes. Shamim's upbeat view on life and motivating lyrics leave listeners humming the beats, singing along and, at the same time, hearing fresh and positive messages.

The combination of sophisticated song writing, a strong voice, and precise dance moves makes Shamim an outstanding entertainer. Dancing since she was seven and competitively a year later in ballet, jazz, lyrical, and tap; Michelle was accepted to the prestigious New York City School of Ballet, as well as the San Francisco Ballet Company all before she reached the age of ten. It's through her singing and dancing that Michelle has been able to express her love and skill for the arts and make quite an impression on others.

Each day, a large number of internet users visit an online video website. In fact, many internet users visit more than one. Online video websites are websites that allow internet users to make, upload, and share their own unique video creations. One of those sites is known as YouTube. If you are looking to use online video websites, such as YouTube, for entertainment, you are in luck. Online, you can find thousands, if not millions of videos that are available for your watch, often free of charge {bot_wrgoogle}If you have never visited the YouTube website, you may be wondering what type of videos you can find online. With YouTube, most of the videos that you will find online are considered homemade movies. This is because these movies are made by traditional internet users, ones just like you. Since each internet user is likely to have different interests or experiences in a particular field, topic, or subject, you are sure to find a large selection of videos on YouTube.

YouTube makes video watching easy. They do this by placing their videos into categories. You can easily find online videos by examining the ones that are viewed the most, the ones that are rated the highest, or the ones that have the most comments. In addition to those categories, you will also find categories that breakdown videos into specific subject categories, based on video content.

One of those categories is comedy. Comedy, perhaps, is the most popular YouTube category. This is because most individuals use online video websites to be entertained. What better way to receive that entertainment than with an online video that leaves you laughing hysterically? Comedy videos may include, but should not be limited to, funny comments, comedy club appearances, staged skits, and even unscripted recordings.

Pets and animals is another one of the many categories that you can find on YouTube. These videos are great for those who love animals. A wide variety of different animals are featured on YouTube videos including cats, dogs, horses, rabbits, and birds. Many of these videos can also be considered comedy videos because many of the videos focus on animals that have special, but funny talents. Additional videos feature professional shows, such as dog shows or horse shows.

YouTube also has a category that is labeled travel and places. The travel and places videos often include videos that vacationers have shot when they were in another area of the world. Popular video locations are ones that are outside of the United States, but you will also find videos that focus on areas inside the United States. In addition to filming interesting or historical locations, many videos have a focus on traditional events or activities. It is not uncommon to find videos on YouTube that outline a particular festival or contest.

Entertainment is another category found on YouTube. This category covers a wide variety of different online videos. Many individuals have created videos that they feel are a source of entertainment, while others have a focus on real entertainment, such as television shows. It is not uncommon to find a collection of scenes, accompanied by music, of popular television shows, soap operas, and movies.
